McBride Post Votes To Bring Convention Here

Meeting With Service Organizations Of The City Will Be Called To Aid Project

PLANS FURTHERED FOR COMING PICNIC

Delegates To National Encampment At Baltimore In August Chosen By Post

Members of the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, voted at their meeting in the Legion Home association building last evening, to extend an invitation to the state department to hold their 1931 state encampment in New Castle.

Commander James A. Bell stated that a meeting would be called in the near future to which representatives of the various civic and service clubs of the city will be invited, asking them to cooperate in the project.

The encampment would bring upwards of 8,000 men here for three days and on the final day, possibly twice that number would be in attendance.

Colorful Affairs. The state conventions of the vets are colorful affairs and no exception would be made in this case. It is an occasion enlivened by the blare of bugles and drums, the like of which has never been seen in this section of the state.

The committee in charge of the coming community picnic reported that plans for the picnic were progressing nicely and that invitations are going out to all V. F. W. posts in the western part of the state, asking them to spend July 30 at Cascade park.

Clarence A. Leslie was elected the delegate of the post to the national encampment in Baltimore, which will be held during the latter part of August.

A report of the recent state encampment was rendered by Commander James A. Bell, who stated that the outstanding piece of legislation sought by the state encampment was the immediate payment of the bonus to the World War veterans.

Close to 10,000 men attended the Wilkes-Barre convention, Commander Bell stated.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The large new sign at Parktown corners should make that corner less dangerous. The signs point the directions of Youngstown, Sharon, New Castle and Edinburg. Before the signs were erected, motorists often had to stop and ask pedestrians the right road to take. Stops congest traffic and cause accidents.

Workmen are engaged in laying an underground line in front of the telephone repeater station, New Castle-Youngstown road.

Saw a trooper riding a broncho at Troop F stables, the other evening. Pa New doesn't know whether the horse usually danced around on its rear legs when someone clung to its back, but it surely did it that time! There was no saddle on the animal, but the rider held tight.

Horses at the troop F stables will be taken away for a period of several weeks, on July 17, and will be used for drill purposes at a cavalry camp.

EARTHQUAKE—TIDAL WAVE ROCK SECTION OF INDIA; SCORES OF CASUALTIES

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, July 3.—Scores of casualties occurred when a series of earthquakes, followed by a tidal wave rocked a large section of India, it was reported in Exchange Telegraph and Central News dispatches from Rangoon today.

The quakes extended from the mouth of the Ganges to the Himalayas. Towns and villages in Assam and Bengal provinces were rocked by the series of nine separate shocks, which caused panic among the population and demoralized telephone and telegraph facilities.

The tremors were felt in Calcutta, where the people fled in panic from their homes.
A tidal wave is reported to have taken a heavy toll in the Akvab district. Disrupted communication facilities have allowed only meager details of the catastrophe to seep through.

(International News Service)
WORCESTER, Mass., July 3.—Five persons were injured, none seriously, and more than 40 young girls from New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland, enroute to a summer camp at Bar Harbor, Me., were badly shaken up today when a switching engine struck and overturned the rear sleeper of the Bar Harbor Express, of the Boston and Maine railroad.

The accident happened almost in the center of the city, just as the train was pulling out of Union station and was proceeding slowly over a cross-over.

Argue Mrs. Schroeder And Dague Appeals On Next Tuesday

Announcement was made today by District Attorney John S. Powers that the appeal of Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague had been advanced from Monday July 7 to Tuesday morning, July 8, before Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand.

Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, special counsel appointed by Governor Fisher to aid in the prosecution of the case, will arrive in the city Monday afternoon and Attorney Benjamin Jarrett, who was co-counsel with Attorney Thomas W. Dickey in the defense is expected at the same time.

The defense has assigned many errors as their reasons for a new trial, and it is upon these allegations of error that the appeal will be heard. Should the motion be denied, there is a likelihood that the case will be carried to the State Supreme court. This hearing could not be held until late in September or October.

Gold Star Mothers Will Be Honored In France In Fourth Observance

(International News Service)
PARIS, July 3.—American Independence Day will take on special significance tomorrow throughout France in the observance of special honors for the American Gold Star mothers who are visiting the graves of their sons.

Nine large groups of the bereaved mothers have visited France, one now here and one sailed for home last night. Eight more groups will have been brought to France by next September.

Incidents of mutual sympathy have bound many of the American and French mothers and this spirit was evident on the eve of the "Glorious Fourth."

Twenty-six New York mothers will be at the Oise-Aisne Cemetery and another group of nearly fifty will be at the Meuse-Argonne today.

Seven mothers are journeying to lonely spots in France where their sons are buried. One of these, Mrs. Clara Banks, of New York, is near Nancy. One is near Bucharest and another in Sicily.

Services will be held in every American cemetery in France on the Fourth, and whether the mother is present or not, the grave of every American soldier in France will be decorated.

Rev. and Mrs. Ross M. Haverfield of Mahoningtown, R. D. 8, have returned from a vacation trip, which included attendance at the Synod meeting in Chambersburg, Pa., and a visit to Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—With the greatest reluctance, President Hoover has decided to intervene personally in the tangled situation confronting the Republican National Committee and ask Claudius H. Huston to resign as chairman.

Possibly today, almost certainly before Monday, the executive will get in touch with Huston to request he step aside. The White House already has made inquiries as to his whereabouts, learning he was not in the city yesterday.

Cyclops Mystery May Be Solved

Fragments Of Alleged Diary Of Crew Member Are Reported

ALLEGED BOMB PLOT TO DESTROY SHIP

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Fragments of a diary, allegedly to have been written by a member of the crew, disclosing a plot to bomb the U. S. S. Cyclops, has caused the bureau of intelligence of the Navy Department to reopen its investigation of the mysterious disappearance of the freighter during the World War with its crew of 15 officers, 221 seamen and 57 passengers.

The vessel was never seen or heard from since it cleared Barbados for Baltimore March 4, 1918, with a cargo of Brazilian manganese ore.

Capt. William Baggeley, assistant director of the bureau, said today the bits of the diary were sent to the department by a former sergeant in the marine corps, who said he received them from a foreign seaman while in San Antonio, Texas.

The plot, according to the diary, involved four men, presumably members of the crew, to place a bomb in the engine room of the steamship and escape in a small boat before it exploded.

Emphasizing the "rumor of a report" submitted to the Navy Department concerning the Cyclops, Secretary of the Navy Adam issued this statement:

Anniversary Of Pickett's Charge

Anniversary Of Famous Battle Of Gettysburg Being Celebrated

(International News Service)
GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—While the thoughts of citizens of the United States turn today and tomorrow to Independence Hall in Philadelphia where the Declaration of Independence launched these United States 154 years ago, Gettysburg, joined by hundreds of visitors, is commemorating the battle fought here 87 years later to save the Union.

Today is the anniversary of the famous Pickett's charge when the gallant southerners made a vain attempt to deliver the final blow necessary to send the Union troops into defeat.

Among the visitors here this year were two children of General James Longstreet, Pickett's commanding officer who granted Pickett's wish to storm the Union lines. Colonel Robert Lee Longstreet, a son, and Mrs. Louise Longstreet, a daughter, of the general were here last evening.

Cushing's battery, which held grimly to a key position of the Union lines when Pickett charged, was almost wiped out that day but from its remnants the now Sixty-Second Coast Artillery, stationed at the Aberdeen (Md.) proving grounds was formed. Today, sixty-five members of the Sixty-Second were to be here, to participate in ceremonies centering about the spot where Cushing's battery held on and where Cushing fell.

Women Hurt As Truck Leaves Road Wednesday Evening

Picnic Truck In Accident Along Road To Slippery Rock

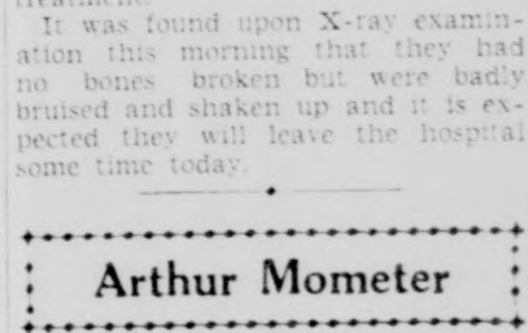

An untimely end was given the Strauss-Hirschberg employees' picnic Wednesday evening, when the advance truck met with an accident that resulted in two of the women being taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

One of the trucks was fitted up with a settee and Mrs. Earl Guy, Mary Harvard, Josephine McGoun and Anna Haug took their places on this and were holding the food which had been prepared for the picnic, with the balance placed in the truck and hauled started in advance of the others toward Etna Springs where the outing was to be held. In going toward Slippery Rock, not far out of town, the truck was crowded off the road by a passing car; the driver ran along the ditch for a ways and up over a steep driveway, upsetting the women in the truck and spilling the food about.

When the truck stopped and things were righted, it was found that Mrs. Earl Guy and Mary Harvard were hurt and they were brought back to New Castle and taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where they received treatment.

It was found upon X-ray examination this morning that they had no bones broken but were badly bruised and shaken up and it is expected they will leave the hospital some time today.

MARKET SHOWS DOWNWARD TREND

Buying Demand Is Not Very Brisk Before Holiday

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
NEW YORK, July 3.—Most sections of the market moved decidedly downward today as the result of the crowding of the list with selling orders at a time when buying demand was not very brisk. The usual process of "evening up" prior to the triple holiday and the unwillingness of traders to take on new commitments at this time robbed the market of its buying power, which was reflected in sharp dips in stocks for which there was a thin market.

A 10 per cent reduction in wages by the Chrysler corporation, passing of dividends by a number of minor industrial concerns and rejections for a motor company and an unrelated security house in Wall street were among the day's bearing contributions.

The new German 5 per cent bonds sold about two points under the flotation price, breaking under 90 for the first time on the removal of the banking syndicate's "peg." Commodities in practically all markets broke to new low price levels on the move.

The widest declines in the stock market were registered in the high-priced specialties, air reduction dropped off about 10 points to 115. DuPont broke under 100 for the first time this year, with a new loss of about 4 points. Allied Chemical lost 3. Goodrich was under pressure and dropped back 2 1/2 points to 56. Auburn Auto lost 3. United States Steel was down about 1 1/2 and Westinghouse 2. Efforts of the bears to extend these declines were not very successful and the market closed up when professional pressure was withdrawn.

RUSSIA HAS FIRST WOMAN CAPTAIN OF SHIP

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, July 3.—Meet Tatsiana Diechenko, the first woman in the Russian mercantile marine to reach the rank of officer.

Slight in physique and with her hair iron-cropped, Tatsiana has arrived in the Thames river aboard the freighter, Siber, in which she holds the rank of third officer.

A woman of about 30, Tatsiana wears a man-officer's uniform with the regulation peak cap and knickerbocks. She has worked her way up the ladder from the position of stewardess, in which the first went to sea several years ago.

There are six other women sailors on board the Siber, mainly stewardesses, so that Tatsiana does not lack feminine company. But she says she prefers to work among the men.

"I am ambitious to command a ship, and I shall not be satisfied until I do," Tatsiana said when interviewed in the middle of paying the crew of 50 in notes and silver.

"I have done the round trip from Russia to England more times than I can remember. I take my turn on watch, even in the roughest weather."

"A heavy gale is a stern test, whether for a man or a woman, particularly while navigating on the bridge." I like the work, however, and would not think of taking up a shore occupation again."

Tatsiana combines her duties as third officer with that of purser. According to the captain, she is most efficient at both jobs.

You're the JUDGE

Bad blood between two men, Tuttle and Pither, in a certain town, was getting to be much talked about.

At latest reports Tuttle, who was a big, rawboned man, had threatened to "break in two" that man Pither, a smaller person, the next time he met him alone, and Pither had dared him to try it.

One day while walking toward the outskirts of the town, Pither did spy Tuttle at a distance. Tuttle, carrying a knife as though returning from a hunt, saw Pither at the same moment. With almost a leer on his face, Tuttle began to run for Pither. Pither drew a revolver and shot Tuttle dead.

Eventually Pither was brought to trial. The story of the feud was told and Pither's attorney pleaded self-defense. But the prosecuting attorney had raised the question of intent, saying that Pither would not have gone about armed if he had not intended to kill Tuttle sometime.

Reduce Salaries Of Chrysler Officers

International News Service
NEW YORK, July 3.—The Chrysler Corporation has ordered a reduction of 10 per cent in salaries, the company announced today. It was explained that the reduction is consistent with a retrenchment policy which the current depression in business demands. Labor has already contributed substantially through reduced working hours and it was felt to be only fair that salaried employees should also bear some of the burden. The reduction applies to all salaried employees uniformly, from Chrysler down, it was said.

The "Chicago We Will" corporation, that promoted the unsuccessful attempt of the world record last week, brought suit charging the plane suit belongs to the corporation and not the Hunters and their associates.

Further complications were seen in regard to broadcasting which the brothers have been doing. They broadcast last night over the National Broadcasting system while the Columbia Broadcasting system is said to hold a contract with them for a $1 a minute.

Attorneys are now preparing to enforce the contract, a spokesman for the Columbia system said.

Some reports of dissension between the Hunter brothers on the ground handling the refueling plane and those in the air were current at the airport, but these were denied.

Kenneth, who has kept the motor in tune from the plane's catwalk, last night crawled out on the motor hood for his evening ukelele concert. Kenneth sent down a request for a new pair of trousers, explaining that the others had worn out.

PRESIDENT WILL ASK HUSTON TO QUIT JOB AS G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

reaching the White House have indicated he had just the reverse in mind—that he intended to let them know he meant to stay on the job regardless.

Such a situation is most distasteful to the president. He is aware that prominent Republicans in the senate already have met to consider ways and means of forcibly ousting Huston should he fail to resign voluntarily on Monday, and he has chosen to intervene rather than let an open row break out.

Waits On Hoover

Huston repeatedly has told party leaders who went to him with the suggestion he could best serve the G. O. P. by getting out that he wouldn't resign unless Mr. Hoover himself requested it. Up to now the president has refused to do this because he and Huston were old friends, and Mr. Hoover has been an assistant secretary when he was secretary of commerce, a prime money raiser in the Hoover campaign, and placed at the head of the committee by special request of the White House.

In the interest of party harmony, however, Mr. Hoover feels his hand has been forced at last. Several of the men who have seen Huston to no avail obviously were White House emissaries, and the president has reached the conclusion if the direct word really is necessary the time has come to speak it.

Huston has been in hot water ever since he appeared before the Senate lobby committee. It was at that time developed that he had conducted an intensive lobby in connection with Muscle Shoals, and that further, he had manipulated certain funds around in stock market speculation in such a way as to draw senatorial condemnation. Demands for his resignation followed immediately upon these disclosures, fifteen party leaders going to him in a group last April, seven administration senators petitioning him, and Secretary of War Henry D. Dyer, and Postmaster General Brown intervening individually. They pointed out the party would have difficulty raising funds with him at the helm.

Talk is growing apace already regarding the identity of Huston's successor. The man most mentioned is Senator Simeon Fess, of Ohio, perhaps largely because of his regularity and his unblemished record.

Most of the politicians, however, think the coming congressional campaign should be fought with Ralph Williams, of Oregon, the vice chairman of the committee, as acting chairman. A new chairman, they feel, can wait until after November.

SKY HARBOR AIRPORT, CHICAGO, July 3.—The steady drone of the City of Chicago's motor at daybreak today indicated that all was well aboard the world's record endurance plane now in its fourth week of continuous flight.

The plane, with John and Kenneth Hunter at the controls, passed its 516th hour in the air at 4:40 a. m. (E. S. T.).

Wilson Herren, manager of the flight gave out the news that the Hunter brothers, former coal miners of Sparta, Ill., are planning on flying on through the Fourth of July.

"This is an endurance flight," Herren said, "It will continue until plane and men give out."

Aimed with a court summons on the fliers which he is at a loss for a means of serving, a deputy sheriff waited today with the thousands of spectators. Court action, he announced, was threatening to take the City of Chicago and tie up the fliers' earnings of considerably more than $10,000.

STAR LORE

THINNESS OF THE SUN'S ATMOSPHERE

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

In contrast with the amazing density of the gases at the center of the sun, is its thinness in solar atmosphere commonly mentioned as the sun's atmosphere. The chromosphere has a depth of 7,000 miles or more, but in reality is equivalent in density to the most effective artificial vacuum. Its density is so tenuous that, were all of it brought down to the density of the air we breathe, it would make a layer around the sun but a foot thick! This startling diffusion of matter in the gases of the chromosphere is accounted for by solar radiation pressure which forces the lighter gas particles to high solar altitudes.

Farm Boys Are Sent To Camp In Country For Little Diversion

A quarter of a hundred lads from farms of Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties are returning to their farm life after spending four days vacation, camping in the country! The boys spent the four day period near Rose Point, at a camp conducted under the supervision of Lawrence and Beaver County Farm Agent Ross M. Gridley.

It does seem strange that the boys whom have spent hundreds of hours in the fields, wading in creeks, driving the cows home, drinking in the fresh country air, being painted with tan by the hot summer sun, racing down hills and climbing baby mountains, should be sent to the country for a camping trip!

It was a new experiment and it worked out fine. The lads had the times of their lives and it is safe to say that the experiment will be repeated next summer.

Of course, County Agent McCulloch's only purpose in having such a camp for farm boys, wasn't mere, for recreational benefits, but for rigid, sugar coated instruction. The boys learned a lot during these few days. They learned many very useful pointers in rope tying, pointers which they will need to know in continuing their farming careers. They learned some important facts about forestry, the growing of trees, grafting, spraying, on "The Green" and Dr. W. H. Dan, uprooting and the proper methods of caring for fruit orchards. The learned of the different breeds of cattle of what makes a thoroughbred, the care, feeding etc. They were instructed in cattle judging and as a result, the youths are returning to their farms with a lot more ideas in their heads than were there when they left. And each boy has learned, in practical use.

Last year, farm boys were instructed in farming technique during the New Castle Fair. That method was not as satisfactory as the new method has turned out to be.

"LET US BE FREE"

TO LOOK around you is to see that liberty, rightly owned, has brought happiness; the nation born of the genius of high adventure and lofty purpose on July 4, 1776, has been a prosperous and productive people.

On the material side we lack little. On the spiritual side we need lack no more. This liberty is a living thing, a growing plant, which is watered by aspirations of recurring ideals and grows only in the sun of utter faith in the freedom of mankind. The great experiment launched 154 years ago is never done and those who contemplate a finite state, bounded and limited by written conditions, are setting frontiers to the imagination of man and forbidding him to reach higher and higher towards the best dream of society he can conceive.

The nation was founded to be forever man's highest conception of government. It claimed and believed itself to be greatly in advance of any experiment of man up to that time. It had sense enough to recognize also that time would bring new revelation to the minds of men and thus novel terms of social relationship would be created. The nation said not "Let us be exactly this in form and that in letter," it said simply "Let us be free!"

And on the wings of that sublime phrase genius made its painful way from the ends of the earth; enterprise abandoned its ancient homestead and uprooted its attachments to become a pioneer; energy dedicated itself to carving out cities and villages from desert and wilderness; hope lighted in the hearts of men and women remote and baffled and led them by faith to the making of a new nation.

"Let us be free!" Free to dare, free to challenge, free to invite all the world and all its dreams, false and true; confident that a nation dedicated to liberty must be stronger than any lesser theory. Liberty is a living thing; it grows or it withers; sustains its genius on the wings of daring, or smugly stifles in the mortifying atmosphere of self-complacency.

Happiness has come from liberty, rightly-owned, liberty, free, full and without reserve, courageously complete. What men need and want, liberty promises them, and must give them.

FARMER AND TARIFF

Opponents of the Hawley-Smoot bill, during the long debate culminating in its passage, attempted to prove that the object aimed at when the extra session was called by President Hoover—to afford relief to agriculture—had been ignored, and that the few benefits which might be derived from the increase in agricultural rates were overbalanced completely by the "unwarranted and inexcusable" increases levied against everything which the farmer must buy.

This argument of the irreconcilables is refuted by President Thompson, of the American Farm Bureau Federation. He compares duties on agricultural and industrial products and the value of imports to show that the percentage of increase of duty under the new tariff schedule upon agricultural products is 32.04 per cent, while that of industrial products is but 10.5 per cent.

This analysis from the farmers' viewpoint goes still further to show how the flexible provisions of the law and the provision for domestic valuation, rather than foreign valuation, will benefit the farmer more than the industrialist.

False as were the arguments of the tariff antagonists, they served the purpose of the politicians, and during the next few months the constituents' mail will be filled with franked copies of their attacks, printed and delivered at the expense of the "people."

MOSQUITO SUPPLY AND DEMAND

Word comes from Tarrytown that mosquitoes there have taken to pushing one another through the apertures in the screens that guard entry into human domiciles by way of window and door. This report deserves to be taken with considerable doubt. Not only does it imply an esprit de corps more highly developed than ordinary observation would accord to the most widely observed of our wild creatures, but it runs at variance with other known facts.

In particular it does not jibe with the common observation that the mosquito screens on most houses contain occasional kinks allowing free entry to the mosquito of reasonable enterprise. He does not have to jimmy his way through the meshes much less to procure the aid of his fellow house-breakers to shove him through.

The present season, moreover, is peculiar in that it has thus far provided much less than the normal mosquito crop. While wheat, cotton and unemployment were present in more than normal abundance, the great mosquito producing centers near New York report an unusual dearth of their chief product. From points in New Jersey and elsewhere comes news of a serious scarcity. Some people have not even found it necessary yet to put up their screens.

Naturally, when mosquitoes are few they need take less trouble to earn their living. The relatively small numbers now operating are fat, for they have little competition among their own kind. In a season of overabundance and underfed mosquitoes the tale from Tarrytown might appear credible, but in times like these it takes a great deal of believing.—The Albany Knickerbocker Press.

GERMAN SOIL FREE AGAIN

With the last trainload of French troops leaving Mayence this week and the hauling down of French and British flags, German soil is free again. The provisional time of the occupation was fifteen years; but the going in to effect of the Young Plan has made unnecessary military guarantees for the payment of reparations. The treaty status will not be revived unless a deliberate default on the part of Germany should wreck the Plan.

This is in the highest degree unlikely. Already German industry has done much to create sound financial conditions. The chief danger lies in reckless budgeting and an unwise use of credit points out an authority. Reichstag has not always shown due regard for national economy, but the business interests will use all their influence to restrain it.

The President's Veto.
Mellon and Lord Chatham.
Get Your Automobile.
Procter-Gamble Soldiers.

On Tuesday the Senate interested itself in a new veterans bill, the original bill, giving 103,000,000 a year more to veterans, having been vetoed by President Hoover.

Some disagreed with the veto, but nobody will deny that it required courage. There is only a loss of votes, next time, in the veto. There would have been many votes to gain by signing it.

The President pointed out that seventy of the $103,000,000 a year would go to men not injured in the war, also that the government now pays $500,000,000 a year to war veterans.

At that rate, if we had had as many casualties as France had, or Germany all the money in the United States would not pay the pension account.

Some, disturbed by depressed business, may find comfort in news that our "best" people are happy and gay as ever.

More of them are in Europe this year than last more of them at desirable United States resorts, especially Bar Harbor and Newport.

All this you learn from the Social Register, of New York, the real one, not the imitation registers that organized, "to supply exclusiveness to the masses."

Washington says Secretary Mellon will devote his vacation to teaching banking and corporation management to his son, Paul, back from a post-graduate course at Cambridge.

An attentive son can learn more from his father than from a thousand professors put together. If his father knows. And Mr. Mellon does know.

In a grave in Westminster Abbey, a father and son lies side by side. Pitt, who kept Napoleon out of England, and his father, the Earl of Chatham.

Pitt, a delicate boy was taught in youth by his father, and later, studied statesmanship at his father's dinner table, listening to Chatham and other older men. He entered the House of Commons, and was chancellor of the exchequer at 22, and prime minister at 23.

Automobile companies report sales greatly diminished in June.

This means that many Americans are making a serious mistake. Efficiency and rapid motion go together; you wouldn't think much of a bird that decided to economize by doing without wings. Better do without something else.

An automobile, wisely bought and used and cared for, is not an extravagance for any man. It is a necessary part of modern equipment, and to do without it is the worst kind of "false economy."

Procter and Gamble, which is the family name of two of our reportage to have purchased the French Caudin soap company, one of the biggest in Europe with a business of $25,000,000 a year.

The Procter and Gamble people are considering other purchases of soap companies in Britain, France and Germany.

In the days of Caesar and Lucullus, men went not to conquer nations with men.

Now dollars do the work and are the soldiers conquering more quietly, more surely.

Mr. Lingle, reporter for the Chicago Tribune, turns out to have been deep in the plans, and probably sharing the profits of gangsters, according to detectives' statements. His salary was $60 a week, and his income $60,000 a year.

The most serious statement in this lamentable exposure is that Lingle dealt in police promotion. To be made police lieutenant the charge was $1,500, for a captain, $200.

No wonder some of the police turn to graft and gangsters, when the position they hold is part of a graft system.

The incident in no way discredits the Chicago Tribune, which knew nothing of Lingle's underworld life. However, Col. McCormick and Mr. Patterson, whose ownership controls the Tribune, will want to know what particular individual, in the Tribune organization did know of Lingle's activities, supporting him with the Tribune's authority and presumably sharing his profits.

Hope springs eternal.
Mr. Andrew McCampbell new prohibition boss in New York, says he will check rum, and asks New Yorkers please to change their habits. You might as well ask the leopard to change his spots; he can only do it, as has been said, by getting up from a spot and moving to another. The one spot can change his habits only by getting up from one speck and moving to another.

Two things that baffle understanding are the way of a man with a maid and the way of a man with a flivver, who parks it close to the inside rail of the curve of a street car track.

While tearing down an old barn, an East Lackawanna man had a big stone topple over on him, causing severe bruises which is almost as bad as to have the plow strike a submergible rock, causing the handles to kick a fellow shipwrecked, otherwise to kick him in the ribs.

Some of the alleged Republican United States senators are figuring on running on the Democratic ticket for re-election. The good of the country or party regularity concerns them not when their personal interests and ambitions are at stake.

Even the Radio Would Have to Cleave Its Clatter if the Blue Laws Were Enforced As They Are Written.

"Man wants but little here below." He wants his meals cooked just right, and composed of the particular things he likes to eat. He wants his clothes kept in perfect order, and the buttons sewed on. He wants to get up when he gets ready, and then he wants to swear because he misses his usual car. He wants to be grouchy when he comes home and not have it mentioned. He wants to leave his coat and hat and shoes just where he happens to take them off when he comes in. He wants to put the ashes from his cigar in the most convenient place while he smokes. He wants to yawn and go to bed when his wife wants him to go out with her and make a call. He wants everything just as he wants it, and he wants no talk about it.

That was a real act of heroism when a Clearfield young lady, clad in street dress, in response to cries for help, jumped into the water and rescued a 12-year-old boy who was being carried down stream to his death. A valuable lesson can be taken from this incident, and that is: "Learn to swim."

A summer camp for farm boys is the latest. Just think of all the years the farm boys have been working in the fields and looking up to see the city boys go by on their way to the summer camp. The farm boys probably do not need such things for exercise, but it breaks the monotony of farm life even if the farm boys have no time to loaf and get into devilry.

Elderberry bushes are "loaded down" with blossoms and the prospects for elderberry "pie" and "jelly" were never better.

For the second year in succession the sale and use of fireworks will be prohibited in New Castle, in order that we may have a "safe and sane" Fourth of July. This as a safety measure may be correct and commendable but should not be used as a means to smother the "Spirit of America" light fans care to donate.

It has been the annual custom to celebrate Independence Day by a liberal use of fireworks and if such dangerous pleasure is to be denied the people, particularly the young folks, the city officials should see to it that the day is properly observed, that our citizens should not be compelled to go elsewhere to view a pyrotechnic display or listen to a patriotic program.

Triumph Of Radio Acclaimed In Flight Of Southern Cross

Hazardous Character Of Westward Flight Over Atlantic Is Outstanding Though Kingsford-Smith Is Enrolled Among Heroes Of Air

Heroic qualities are found by the country in the enterprise of Capt. Kingsford-Smith, whose flight with the Southern Cross from Ireland to Newfoundland fell short of reaching the goal at New York. The hazardous nature of the westward journey across the Atlantic is demonstrated once more, and much of the comment is in recognition of the part that radio played in saving the lives of the air navigators.

"The successful flight," according to the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "is a triumph for radio as well as for the courage and skill of Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three comrades on the great adventure." Flying helplessly, hopelessly in the black heavens, they at last picked up a "beam wireless," as cheering a harbinger to them as the returning dove to the flood-tossed ark of old. It gave them their bearings, it guided them through the otherwise pathless and fatal night, it crowned their heroism with victory. Thus the scientist and the inventor, hidden away from the world, patiently bent upon their quiet quests, without the spur of a splendid hazard and without the multitude's applause, share the glory of those who conquer the sky. It is the man of thought who prepares the way for the man of action, and a great thought is truly a great deed.

"Brave and skilled as the Captain and his three flying companions are, dependable as his three motors are, staunch as his well-tried ship is, in the opinion of the TOLEDO BLADE, "disaster would have been inevitable except for the messages giving location, which came unannounced, as from nowhere, out of the fog. In such emergencies, the human eye and a flick compass needle, veering with magnetic influences of the earth, are wholly undependable."

"Just as the mails in earlier days were an indispensable necessity in the slower travel of the period, and as the telegraph was made a useful servant in connection with the operation of railroad trains," says the SALT LAKE DESERT NEWS, "so now radio, most amazing of agencies bent to the will and use of man, has become an all-important part of the wondrous travel through the air."

Dependence on the radio in this flight is impressed also on the LANCASTER INTELLIGENCER JOURNAL and the CANTON DAILY NEWS. The latter states that "had it not been for the use of the radio beam, the Southern Cross might have disappeared like most of its predecessors" and that "for the present, at least, the game of flying the Atlantic in heavier-than-air craft is not worth the candle."

"The Southern Cross" declares the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "has accomplished little more than the Bremen accomplished. It came closer to its goal and it was undamaged, but this was due, not to the plane, but to wireless. Like the Bremen it was lost—this is not belittling the exploit of Capt. Kingsford-Smith to say that he has demonstrated what, time and again, has been demonstrated before, that the heavier-than-air machine has not yet reached a stage of perfection where it can cope with the hazards of the westward passage."

"One of the greatest living air pilots" is the tribute of the NEW YORK TIMES to the leader of the flight, with the further comment: "He used a well-tested plane that had been flown over the Pacific and most of the way around the world." The JAMESVILLE GAZETTE calls it "another tremendous achievement of the air," while the ROANOKE TIMES says the names of the crew of the Southern Cross "deserve to be added to the lengthening roll of heroes of the air"; that "Kingsford-Smith is rightfully elated at having crossed the Atlantic without mishap."

"The flight takes on an added romance," in the judgment of the CHATTANOOGA TIMES, "by reason of the age of the Southern Cross and its record of previous performances. The tri-motored monoplane has been in service five years. It has flown more than 73,000 miles, and in all this mileage its engines have never failed once." The KALAMAZOO GAZETTE adds that "the flight is a triumph for radio as well as for the courage and skill of Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three comrades on the great adventure."

HEALTH

It's a dreary old world and a weary old world
When a toothache you happen to get Beyond any question, if you've indigestion
Or trifles you're certain to fret
And who can be happy, however so rich
If his feet are afflicted with locker-room itch.

You don't go to dinners or dances or
To the theatre, or to the races
If you're getting into your frame
A boil on your neck all life's pleasure
Can wreck
And a touch of the grip does the same.
To get the full joy from a rose which you smell
There isn't a doubt that you've got to be well.

It doesn't take much of an ache to destroy
The pleasure a fortune can bring.
If you've no appetite and you can't sleep at night
You are dead to the song birds that sing
For the joys of the world are not glory or wealth.
If you want to be happy, take care of your health.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AGAIN THE PLUMBER
The plumber worked and the helper stood helplessly looking on. He was learning the business. This was his first day.
"Say," he inquired, "do you charge for my time?"
"Certainly, you idiot," came the reply.
"But I haven't done anything!"
The plumber, to fill in the hour had been looking at the finished job with a lighted candle. Handing the two inches of it that were still unburned to the helper, he said wistfully:
"Here, if you gotta be so damned conscientious, blow that out!"

Liberty Grange Burns Mortgage Wednesday Night

Past State Master Participates In Very Interesting Ceremony Last Night

Liberty Grange on the Harlanburg road, last night observed the burning of its mortgaged indebtedness, by burning the mortgage with fitting ceremonies in the presence of a large number of members and visiting grangers.

The actual ceremony of burning the mortgage was preceded by a short program given under the direction of Mrs. S. A. Locke, lecturer of Liberty Grange, which included the History of the Grange by Clarence Boyle, a reading by William Stoner and the crowning event of the program, an address by W. F. Hill of Huntington, Pa., oldest living past state master of the grange who in very fitting remarks told what the occasion meant to the members.

The actual burning of the mortgage then occurred with the members of the executive committee, F. F. Forbush, R. J. Drake and J. O. Cameron holding a silver tray on which the mortgage was burned while Past State Master W. F. Hill applied the match which ignited the mortgage.

The history of the mortgage is interesting. It was for $1,550 in its original form and was issued in March 1925. It was paid off in full in January 1930.

Following the burning of the mortgage, refreshments were served to the more than three hundred persons in attendance by the social committee of the Grange.

Scenes Set For Celebration Of Braddock Battle

Historic Event Will Be Commemorated With Two Day Celebration Next Week

WILL DEDICATE WASHINGTON STATUE

Arrangements have been completed and the stage is set in Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin for the commemoration of the 175th anniversary of the Battle of Braddock's Field, which will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8 and 9.
Prominent business men of the three adjoining communities have united their efforts to make the event the greatest of its kind in the history of the area where General Edward Braddock was met and repulsed by the French and Indians in a battle to which historians point as having an important bearing on the development of the American colonies into a nation.

The first day of the celebration will be devoted largely to inspection of the district's industries by visitors and inspection of the replica of John Frazier's log cabin and an elaborate display of historical relics collected for the event. In the evening an air carnival will be given by planes from Bettis Field, McKeesport, with tornado and stunt flying. The pageant with a cast of more than 1,000 persons, will follow. The pageant will be repeated on Wednesday evening. It will depict the district's growth and development from Indian times and will be presented in a natural amphitheater prepared for the occasion and capable of accommodating 40,000 persons.

The program Wednesday will open with a boat ride in which distinguished guests will be taken up the Monongahela river from Pittsburgh to view the industrial establishments along the banks. The boat will return to Braddock for the parade, in which many historical floats have been entered. Marching, delegations of many organizations will be represented. Indians, brought from reservations for the occasion, will participate also. The parade will march over a four mile route through the three boroughs passing in review before the distinguished guests.

The parade will disband at the site where the statue of George Washington, depicted as a colonel when he played an important role in the battle, will be dedicated, the ceremony following immediately after the parade.

Congressman Clyde Kelly will be master of ceremonies at the dedication and addresses will follow by Michael Robert Wright, representing the British embassy; Major Jas.
Therault, air attaché of the French embassy; Chief War Eagle, representing the Indian tribes; Hon. Josiah Van Arsdale, president general Sons of the American Revolution and Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general, Daughters of the American Revolution. A salute to the flag by the 107th Field Artillery will accompany the unveiling of the monument. Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury and chairman of the commission named by the government to participate in the celebration, will make the dedicatory address.

A banquet Wednesday evening in the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, will conclude the celebration. The toastmaster, Congressman Kelly, will be introduced by George A. Todd, general chairman of the celebration committee. Governor John S. Fisher will make the principal address.
Other speakers will be Representative Henry W. Temple of Washington, Pa., Representative R. Walton
Moore of Virginia, United States Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, United States Senator Millard
E. Tydings of Maryland and Governor William G. Conley of West Virginia.

"Abraham—A Pioneer Of Faith"

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.—Hebrews 11:8.

By ALVIN E. BELL

The maps shown in time tables of western and southern railway systems give few details and strange proportions to our northern and eastern states. Their only reason for giving the small space they do give is to locate Washington, Cincinnati, or Chicago as the northern or eastern terminals of their roads. Similarly the Book of Genesis rushes over the creative ages and the many centuries that precede Abraham with no attempt at detail but with the single evident purpose of locating Abraham as the starting point of a line of grace and blessing that was to branch out to reach all nations.
Eleven chapters are given to all the ages that precede Abraham and 39 to Abraham and the three generations that follow him in Isaac, Jacob and Joseph.

The Choice Of Abraham

God's efforts to work out his plans in the race as a whole had met with two significant failures in the descendants of Adam and Noah. In both cases inquiry became widespread and all but universal. A departure from this plan is made in the calling out of Abraham and the selection of a chosen race in his seed through which the divine preparation might be made for the coming of the Saviour. The "chosen people" did not mean that other peoples were rejected. The choice was made to prepare blessing for all. Abraham was a man of true faith in Jehovah in spite of the idolatry of his fathers and neighbors at Ur of Chaldees.

"Now Jehovah said unto Abraham, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto the land that I will show thee, and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and be thou a blessing; and I will bless them that bless thee, and him that curseth thee will I curse; and in thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed." Abraham was at this time a man of 75 years of age and childless, yet his faith failed not nor faltered at these tremendous promises of God.

The Way Of The Pioneer

Abraham gave to the "pioneer" the spirit of the pioneer. He felt the urge of the unseen. To him a vision was more real than the things seen.
"Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of the Jordan, that it was well watered everywhere....
And Abraham dwelt in the land of Canaan, and Lot dwelt in the cities of the plain, and pitched his tent towards Sodom." It is the story of faith in the spiritual versus greed for the material and carnal. Lot was selfish and carnal and made a mess of things from which the generous spirit of Abraham had to rescue him.
Only to fall back again and lose all in the destruction of Sodom. Lot's policy of "get while the getting's good" pay the same disappointing dividends still. It does not pay to "pitch one's tent toward Sodom";
though the plains seem well watered.
Better the bleak barren highlands with God than the alluring pastures of the godless. Abraham points us to the better, safer choice for ourselves and our children. "For he looked for the city which hath the foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

"The International Uniform Lesson for July 6 is Gen. 12:1-3, 13:7-12, the subject being 'Abraham—a Pioneer of Faith,' and the Golden Text, Heb. 11:8. 'By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed to go out unto a place which he was to receive for an inheritance; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.'"

The blonde that burns

Sunburn dangerous to some skins What to do

"A CONSIDERABLE number of blonde Nordics can't stand sunburn," says a noted health officer.
"They don't tan. They just burn. And often they get actually ill from the effects of the sun."

And sunburn is not only injurious to your delicate skin, it is unbecoming.
Better avoid it. Even on cloudy days there may be enough violet rays to cause irritation. Use a parasol and wear a hat. Look out for the reflected violet rays from the water and take your "Vaseline" Jelly along on all outings for complete protection. The tube slips easily into your hand bag.

Before you go out, apply a thin layer to the exposed skin, face, arms, neck, legs (if you go without stockings).
Wipe it off with cleansing tissues and apply powder. This will give a protective film over the skin.

And if you feel yourself burning,
apply a fresh layer and leave it on.
Never mind the looks. Better be safe than sick.

This is a harmless way to save yourself trouble. Do try it. "Vaseline" Jelly can be bought anywhere, in jars or tubes, and it is very inexpensive.

FOOD MERCHANTS TODAY PROTECT THEIR PERISHABLES with KELVINATOR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

IN EVERY community throughout the country the better class of food retailers have turned to Kelvin-ator for reliable electric refrigeration. To them, the installation of Kelvinator refrigeration is merely sound business—a guarantee to their customers of fresh, wholesome foods, always free of taint or spoilage.

But Kelvinator is more than a builder of good will.
It is one of the few investments a food retailer makes that repays its entire cost—often within a single year's time.

Kelvinator enables the grocer to handle an ever-increasing variety of fresh foods. It saves wasteful trimming of meats for the butcher. It keeps fruits and vegetables, cheese, butter, milk and eggs properly refrigerated and protected. And it reduces refrigeration costs fully two-thirds in the average store.

The saving that comes from lower refrigeration costs, plus the saving that comes from being able to make larger quantity purchases at consequent reductions, combine to make the installation of Kelvin-ator downright good business.

New Castle Swimmer Confident On Eve Of 20-Mile River Swim

In an every respect after weeks of rigid training at Lakeside beach, Joseph Frankovich, long-distance swimmer of New Castle, will plunge into the waters of the Ohio river Friday morning for an eight or nine hours swim which he hopes will end only after he has reached East Liverpool, Ohio, or even beyond.

Joe, as he is commonly called, made an attempt to do the same thing last year, but unfortunately got tangled up in river grass after covering the first 12 miles. This year he's confident of swimming the entire course of 20 miles.

Frankovich concluded training for the effort Wednesday night, and this morning announced he is primed to go. "I think I'll make it this year for my lung capacity is much better," he replied when asked what he thought his prospects were.

Together with a host of friends, Joe will leave his home at 104 Charter street early tomorrow for the automobile trip to Beaver. The actual start is scheduled to begin at what was formerly Beaver beach, on the boundary line between Beaver and Rochester. He'll get started some time between 6:30 and 9 o'clock.

Accompanying him in a motor boat will be William Smith, Fred Schuler and Jack Hill, also of this city. They will time him and be ready to assist should he want help at any time.

The course of the swim down the river, a part of which he covered last year, will take him through three United States government locks, something which only competent swimmers are allowed to do. "The undertow in the water when the gates are released are treacherous to the swimmer," Joe explained.

Joe swam down as far as Midland a year ago, but his plan this year is to go almost twice as far. If he makes East Liverpool and everything is still going right he plans to continue on to Wellsville or farther.

"If I make good in my swim tomorrow I'm going to enter something bigger before the year's up," Frankovich assured. "I may not make it, but right now I think I will."

WISH FULFILLED, OHIO GOLD STAR MOTHER IS DEAD

SALEM, O., July 3.—Less than a month after she had fulfilled the greatest wish of her life, a visit to the grave of her son on the battle fields of France, Mrs. S. M. Reynolds, 76, died Wednesday at her home in Damascus, east of here.

Mrs. Reynolds became ill during the pilgrimage of Gold Star mothers to the foreign battle fields and was confined a short time in an American hospital in Paris.

She recovered sufficiently, however, to go to the Argonne Forest battle field, where her son Corp. Allan Reynolds, was buried after he fell in action during the fiercest fighting in the last days of the World War.

After boarding a steamer for the United States, Mrs. Reynolds suffered a relapse when she arrived in New York and was taken to a hospital.

She was removed to her home a short time later under care of a government nurse.

All-American Team Defeated

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 3.—The All-American team of Wilmer Allison and Miss Edith Cross was defeated in the quarter-finals of the mixed doubles in the Wimbledon tennis championships today by Jack Crawford of Australia and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of America. The score was 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Neither Allison nor Crawford put up spectacular showings, the women bearing the brunt of the play. Miss Cross put up a great struggle, but Miss Ryan's tremendous service was the deciding factor. Crawford was spotty and Allison played listlessly, obviously tired from his gruelling five-set semi-final singles match against John Doege yesterday.

Grange Dedicates D. F. Kyle Home

Most Interesting Ceremony Observed At North Beaver Home On Tuesday

Dedication of rural home to some of the higher ideals of life in accordance to the rites of the Grange, for the first time in the history of Grange work in Lawrence county, was an event of Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Kyle of North Beaver township, two miles southeast of Mt. Jackson.

Due to the high esteem in which Mr. Kyle is held among the Grange members due to his untiring efforts for that organization, of which he is a past master of the Pomona Grange, the Grange members of the entire county took special pride on Tuesday afternoon in turning out to do him honor in this unusual ceremony, more than 300 being in attendance.

The ceremony was carried out by W. F. Hill of Huntingdon, Pa., past state master, assisted by the members of the 1929 Pomona Grange temple.

In the ceremony the home was dedicated to four things, religion, patriotism, education and music.

At the close of the ceremonies the table ladies of Pomona Grange assisted Mrs. Kyle in serving refreshments, which were greatly enjoyed by all.

Federal Reserve Aids Connellsville

Two Banks Remain In Good Shape After Closing Of Two

(International News Service)
CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 3.—The Pittsburgh branch of the Federal Reserve Bank and other banks in the Pittsburgh district today were expected to rush additional shipments of money if necessary to two banks here to prevent possible runs on them as a result of the closing of two of the city's financial institutions within the past three days.

The Title and Trust Company of Western Pennsylvania, the first to close, was ordered by the state department of banking Tuesday afternoon to suspend business because of "frozen assets." Yesterday the Union National bank failed to open for business. Its board of directors had decided it would be for the interest of both depositors and stockholders to place its assets in custody of the state banking department. Deposits in the two houses totaled $3,500,000.

The Citizens National and the Second National banks, the two remaining open today, reported withdrawals early yesterday were abnormal, but that late in the day fell off.

steadily. The Citizens, its tellers ready to satisfy demands of depositors, remained open an hour later than usual.

Local Women Are Now Becoming Enthusiasts Of Horse-Back Riding

Oh there is nothing of fun in an airplane ride, and in auto racing, golf playing and surf riding. But girls, if you are itching for a grand and glorious thrill that is guaranteed to tickle the marrow in your bones, jump on a spirited saddle horse, leave the rest of the world behind and go galloping up and down hills, over fields, through wooded paths. There is nothing like it, and you will never forget it (not for several days, guaranteed, because it will be impressed not only upon your memory but well the writer of this memorandum knows, she being one of the very recent converts).

Since so many women of New Castle have decided to become horsewomen it is only proper to print some rules of the art with which all would-be riders should abide. These rules were secured through two hours of actual riding experience on the part of the writer and two days of after lessons. Having had one riding lesson, the writer feels very much startled up as far as horses are concerned.

The first and most important thing is to stick on the horse. The second important thing is to know how to fall off a horse. There are many ways to stick on a horse and many ways to fall off, however, a student should choose the most fashionable of the methods.

To mount, put your left foot in the stirrup on the left side of the animal and daintily throw the right leg over the side and place the right foot in the other stirrup. Take a rein in each hand, give the mount a little kick in the ribs and away you go. Remember to stick on the horse, but in so doing, don't drop the reins. If you should lose the reins, don't grab the horse's neck nor tail. You can either fall off the side or over its head. Over the head style is used by the Prince of Wales and is considered a very bad habit. After having taken form the mount, lay quiet and calm on the ground. The horse will think you are playing leap frog and will jump over you instead of mauling with his hoofs.

But it is better to be a good captain and stick to the ship. In stopping a horse, do not give a long steady pull on the reins. Give a series of short pulls. When you wish to start riding tighten your legs, give a slight pull at the reins, relax the legs and the animal gets the idea and starts. When the horse is facing toward the stables, this sign language is seldom necessary. The dear old thing starts on a gallop, whether the rider likes it or not.

Expert horsemen will tell a beginner to lose fear of the horse. Never, upon any circumstances think of this verse: There was young lady from Nizer. Who smiled as she rode forth on a tiger. As she returned from the ride, the lady was inside.

YOUNG WOMAN SETS RECORD IN 'CHUTE PLUNGE
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 3.—Equipped with a device to take the task of opening her parachute from her own numbed hands, Mrs. Rita Schoemaker leaped from a plane more than 15,000 feet in the air on Wednesday to establish a new woman's record for altitude jumping.
In a cabin plane the young broker's secretary, who came from a Chicago home to make her way in the money markets of Manhattan, flew upward until lost to sight, higher and higher she went, until her fingers stiffened with the cold and her heart pounded in the thin air.
Then between 15,000 and 16,000 feet up she opened the door and walked out.
She floated easily downward, rubbing her chin, which had been bruised by her belt buckle in the first precipitous plunge. She landed among the squat trees of a nursery after narrowly escaping some high tension wires.
Elated, she told reporters to give all credit to her two-year-old son, whom she had left in South Bend.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Playing Sick Child Needs Diplomacy

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Can you remember the headache you didn't have, the pain in your chest wasn't there, or the doctored throat that was not sore? Maybe you don't. You may never have discovered these resources as a means of escaping actions or repelling tasks.

Some of us do remember. Some, indeed, do not have to go far back. Occasional adults discover that a sudden ailment wins them coveted attention which comes not so easily in any other way. It is a childish trick which a few grown-ups of good social standing have resorted to.

Many children have enjoyed this convenient device. Parents who are over-anxious about the child's health encourage it. Anyway it is not so bad to have a little extra tenderness and waiting on. And it usually works very well. I know. I tried it when I was a lad about nine years of age. My sister, who was nearest me in age, whose companionship I, with no boy playmates near our home in the country, greatly cherished was as I saw it, blessed with bronchitis when I wasn't.

School then had little lure for me. Home had had a great deal, especially when my sister stayed there. With a voracious appetite at breakfast I could not easily feign illness in the early morning, so off I trudged to school with my mother ten years older. But about ten o'clock a very "severe" headache developed. Tears came. I even wept. As nearly as I can remember it was a kind of homesick feeling that I had worked up. My brother took me home as ill. Next day the same thing happened and it happened on a third. On that particular day I was doled with medicine, but my appetite betrayed me. Accordingly my father had some doubts. I think I remembered that I sensed his unfortunate discovery. Next morning he told me rather sternly not to come home again else I would have a little hickory oil.

I understood that figure of speech and ten o'clock passed by without another headache. I was wholly cured.

Many parents have told me of similar problems with school children. Some pre-school children, jealous of a younger brother or sister, also feign illness for attention.

Regardless of the child's age, it is safe to assume that he may be ill. Put them to bed since he is "sick" and whether or not the thermometer registers some fever, give him unmitigated liquid diet. Of course if the child has a temperature noticeably above normal you will call the doctor. Don't question the child or suggest that you doubt his truth. Indeed, it is possible for him if he has a good imagination.

The school child's pretending is likely to show marked recovery an hour or two past the time for school. But say to him "Since you are ill it is not safe for you to get out of bed today." Play the game through without any suggestion to him that he is being punished. Merely take him at his word. You are thinking of the effect this experience will have upon his future conduct. Be pretty busy during the day so that he does not get much attention. Next time he complains of illness, he will doubtless have more substantial grounds for his report.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Perhaps the most perfect day of June 1930 was the last Sunday of the month, which was the day selected for the Children's Day program at Gardner chapel. At 7:30 the little folks clad in all the hues of the rainbow, made a colorful picture, and rendered the following program in a manner reflecting credit on those who had the matter in charge. Mrs. Norman Walker announced the numbers as follows:

Hay, was chairman of the program committee, and was assisted by Mrs. Paul McConahy, Mrs. Norman Walker, and Miss Malinda Walker. These all gave a great deal of time and effort to make the program a success. It is not easy to do justice to some of the original features of this entertainment, on paper. Flowers sleeping under a snowbank, made a scene of beauty and charm. The decorations deserve very special mention, there was such an abundance of lovely flowers and ferns, all arranged with taste and skill.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A lady dared to suggest there should be a Husband Exchange, so that women who, like herself, were disgruntled with their men, could pass them on to those who like them. She said her husband hadn't kissed her in five years.

"Timidly I suggested she sneak up behind him and kiss him to start the old romance booming. And what do I get? Here, read it!"

"Dear Leola: I'm afraid I didn't make myself very plain before, so I'm trying again. What I meant to say is this: Although none of my friends' husbands look good to me, I happen to know that mine looks very alluring to them—all because he is a good actor. They haven't ever been present when I have been trying to jummy a quarter out of him. Neither have they seen him in one of his 'morning after' grooches. And how! How I'd love to see one of these women disillusioned as I have been! Your advice was to slip up behind him and kiss him. Now I am mighty afraid you don't know your jealous husbands or you'd know how they think kisses are inspired by guilty consciences. He would probably turn on me with: 'Now what have you done? I am afraid he is hopeless so I have decided to take part of Mother's advice. I'll bear it but I absolutely refuse to grin. And can you blame me? Anybody who will come and get him is welcome. I'd even pay transportation charges. If he were the same size physically as he is mentally and spiritually, he could travel on a two cent stamp.

Scrappily, yours,
LEOLA."

I can't imagine anyone accepting your excess baggage, even prepaid, if he is as described. But I still think you are too determined not to smile and not to stop scrapping. Do you know why other women think he is nice? Because he tries to live up to their opinion of him. If he lived down to yours, he would have to crawl under the radiator.

Bessemer Is Ready For Glorious Fourth

Apparently the citizens of Bessemer have been living tight. No other reason could be ascribed for the good weather which seems certain for the Fourth of July celebration to be held in the bore of bricks and cement tomorrow.

Anything less than a bright day would spell disaster for the celebration but the weatherman seems to be holding out the promise of that kind of weather. The work of rolling the athletic field has been carried on night and day and every committee is ready for the dawn of tomorrow.

A parade will open the celebration at ten o'clock followed by a baseball game between Bessemer and Hillsville. Carnival attractions conducted by members of the Boosters Club will be open all day, a second ball game between Bessemer and Hillsville will be held in the afternoon, and a display of fireworks will be presented in the evening.

Because it is practically the only place in the county where a celebration is being held, many visitors from other parts of the county are expected to be present.

Will Increase Dividends Of Policy Holders

Over $30,000,000 In Dividends
Has Been Paid On Government Insurance To Date

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Government life insurance policy holders will obtain substantial increases on dividends this year owing to a liberalized policy adopted by the U. S. Veterans Bureau.

Assistant Director George E. Ijams declared today that the new schedules represent the highest dividend return ever authorized by the bureau and "evidences its policy of passing on to the policy holders the benefit of favorable conditions."

The new policy does not apply to the five year convertible term plan insurance, on which dividends will continue in accordance with the former schedule.

Over $30,000,000 in dividends have been paid to date on government life insurance. There are now in force approximately 650,000 government insurance policies, aggregating over $3-000,000,000 insurance.

Ijams issued a statement urging that veterans who have permitted their policies to lapse since the war take advantage of liberalized legislation enacted by congress making possible reinstatement of insurance.

"A recent amendment removed all restrictions as to who may be named beneficiary under government insurance and it is now possible for a policy holder to designate any person, firm, corporation or legal entity as beneficiary," Ijams said.

"Another important change in the law permits veterans of the World War who were entitled to apply for insurance while in the service, and who are now in good health, to apply for government insurance in any multiple of $500, but not less than $1,000 or more than $10,000."

"Under this provision, those veterans of the World War who are in good health, irrespective of whether they applied for insurance while in the service or have since allowed their insurance to lapse may now apply for insurance up to $10,000."

According to the statement government insurance is furnished at less than cost, since the government bears
all the expenses of administration.
The premiums are the net rates according to the American experience table of mortality and interest at 3 1/2 per cent per annum.

The Bolsheviks have their faults but they don't stand and cry when crooks interfere with reform plans.

Commission To Watch Canadian Newsprint Sales

Will Be On Watch Against Any Monopoly Being Created

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Federal Trade Commission warned the senate today that future activities of the Newsprint Institute of Canada in the sale of newsprint and the fixing of market prices should be closely watched, "with a view to remedial action if any agency is found to exist that may be contrary to the antitrust laws of the United States."

A sweeping investigation of the entire newsprint situation failed to show the existence of any such agency at the present time, the commission told the senate.

No company selling newsprint in the Eastern part of the United States has a sufficient proportion of the business to constitute a monopoly, the commission said. It asserted, however, that "the possible monopoly or tendency toward monopoly" of the Crown-Zellerbach Corporation in Pacific states, and that corporation's acquisition of the capital stock of the Crown-Williams Paper Co., while in control of the Washington Pulp & Paper Co., are "subject matters of a case now being further investigated by the commission."

The commission recommended "that publishers of small daily and weekly newspapers, wherever possible, 'set up machinery' for purchasing their requirements of newsprint on a cooperative basis in order to get the benefit of the manufacturers' contract prices for paper in shipments of carload lots."

Regarding conservation of raw materials, the commission recommended:
"That the United States department, through its appropriate departments, continue its experiments with the manufacture of paper from farm waste products."

"That the government owned timber lands and water power sites in Alaska be made available to domestic-owned companies on liberal terms for development of the paper industry in Alaska, having in mind, of course, the conserving and perpetuating of these national resources."

Open Air Service Of Croton M. E. Is Largely Attended

Preparations Made For Great
Sunday, When Joash Chests
Will Be Opened

Open air services were held by the congregation of the Croton M. E. church on the spacious lot at the corner of Loran and Haus avenues last evening, which were attended by a great throng of people.

The services were held in preparation for the Joash Chest offering in the church next Sunday morning, when an effort will be made to raise $1,500 for the work of the church.

Enthusiasm ran high in the meeting. The singing was of a high character, under the direction of Mrs.
June Bernard, who also rendered a beautiful solo.

The meeting was in charge of the pastor, Clifford S. Joshua. The congregation is looking forward with expectancy to the service Sunday, which will culminate a month of intensive effort on the part of the members of the congregation.

Vacation Bible School At Croton M. E. Church Ends

Fine Program Of Exercises Is Carried Out This Morning
At Closing Service

With a great number of parents and friends in attendance the Daily Vacation Bible school at the Croton
M. E. church, which has been in progress during the past month, was brought to a close this morning with a fine program.

There was a banner attendance of the pupils, and the work done by the pupils was greatly admired, the exhibition having been arranged on the walls of the class rooms.

Exercises of a pleasing character were carried out by the various departments and elicited generous applause.

The attendance at the school this year has broken all records and reflects great credit on Miss Eva B.
Nicklin, deaconess of the church, who has been ably supported by a fine corps of assistants.

Diplomas and certificates of award were given each pupil who has attended the course.

when police and state troopers, swingonstration of 1,800 strikers in front of the Fisher Body Company plant here today.

About 3,500 workers have walked out.

Company officials meanwhile issued a statement denying that there had been any reduction in wages and charged that communists were responsible for the strike and subsequent demonstrations.

New Castle Girl Writes About Nature Study Tour

Levinah Stewart, a student of State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, Pa., and three others, Elizabeth McCoy, Anthony Miklanic, and William Hutchinson received scholarship from the Open Road and Nature Clubs at Slippery Rock to attend a Nature Training camp at Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va.

They have been there for the past three weeks.

Oglebay Park, where they stayed for two weeks, contains 750 acres and it is a typical place to study nature. The park included ten nature trails, a golf course, a tennis court, a riding academy and picnic sites.

Mr. Oglebay presented this land to the city of Wheeling and it has been made into a nature park.

The camp at the park consisted of sixty students from the various states, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Ohio, California, Tennessee, Virginia, New Hampshire, and West Virginia.

The students lived in cottages in the park. We had different courses during our two weeks stay.

Dr. Bertha Chapman Cady, an entomologist, from New York City, conducted a field trip every forenoon, spending most of our time studying field trip every forenoon.

One day Dr. Needham, from Cornell University assisted by Dr. Cady conducted a trip studying water insects, such as the caddis fly, May fly, hellgramites, small snails and other insects.

Dr. Strausbaugh from the West Virginia University spent a few hours with us, studying wild plants, trees, and flowers.

Every morning, regardless of the weather from 6:15 to 8:00 the students took a long bird walk with Mr. A. B. Brooks, a naturalist of Wheeling. We saw and heard a cedar wax wing, a blue gray knat catcher, red eyed vireo, red start, Acadian fly catcher, tufted titmouse, Indigo Bunting, and many other interesting birds.

Mr. Chapel, of New York City, held a class in photography, which was very interesting and enjoyed by both students and faculty.

Two days of our camp trip was spent visiting Bethany College, and the West Virginia University and studying on their nature trails.

Most of our afternoons were spent in handicraft work. We made plaster paris casts of leaves and flowers, India ink prints of leaves, smoked prints of leaves, blue prints of leaves and ferns and also bird houses.

Camp fires were held every evening. Indian customs were carried out around the camp fire. The group of students were divided into four tribes, Kanabosha, Cherokee, Hurons and Blackfeet. Each tribe had a chief and Robert Hudson, camp director was head chief. During the few nights of camp fire each tribe presented a historical stunt as the story of Pocahontas, Betty Zane, Wetzel's Cave and other original stunts. For instance the Cherokee tribe put on a stunt imitating Mr. Brooks on a bird walk. The tribe heard a silver crested flycatcher, a gas bill, a bozo bird (that flies backward to keep the sand out of its eyes) a Brooksonian bird and many other substituted names for birds. Prizes were given for the best and the most original stunt. Other evenings were spent in playing games, dancing (including an old fashioned square dance) a bacon hunt and studying astronomy.

The third week beginning on Monday was spent in the Smoke Hole district at Hermit Island 271 miles south of Wheeling. The students and faculty made the trip in one day in a Greyhound bus.

Upon arrival at Upper Track, four miles from the Island, the students, faculty and baggage boarded a small truck and carefully made their way down through a narrow trail with high towering cliffs of rock on both sides. You could touch these rocks by putting your hand over the side of the truck as we gently made our way over the rough trail.

Six young men of the camp preceded us and had our tents pitched and a delicious dinner awaiting us when we arrived.

The island was an ideal place for nature enthusiasts.

Tuesday was spent exploring the island and resting.

Wednesday morning, bright and early everyone climbed into the truck, with a few sandwiches and started for another trip 71 miles south of the island. Here we visited Seneca Rock which is 900 feet high. We all succeeded in climbing to the very top of the rock and had our pictures taken on the highest point. Seneca Rock was named by the Seneca Indians.

Wednesday afternoon we visited the Smoke Hole. The Smoke Hole was a large spiral hole about 40 feet high carved out of the rock by the Indians and in this place they smoked their meats.

Thursday was spent in short walks over the mountains and trying to find a rattlesnake or a copperhead. After tramping many miles in the hot sun, we found a dead copperhead, which was killed by some surveyors. These surveyors reported they had killed twelve rattlesnakes and three copperheads in two weeks around the island.

Friday we took a long trip, as on Wednesday and we went to Spruce Knob about ninety miles south of the island. Spruce Knob has an elevation about 4987 feet high. It is the highest point in the state of West Virginia. On top of the mountain it was very cold. It was like a late November day in New Castle, only the early spring flowers were just beginning to bloom. We saw several herds of cattle, horses, and sheep on the top of the mountain. The only birds we saw on top were the robins and turkey buzzards.

We arrived late at our camp that night and all the mountaineers from miles around were there to give us a hearty welcome and entertain us for the remaining part of the evening. They played their fiddles and mouth organs and sang several mountain songs, as I recall they sang "Barbara Allen" several times. We enjoyed their visit very much.

Saturday morning early we broke camp and all returned to Oglebay park by bus.

Sunday morning we separated from all our dear and precious friends. Friends that are real and everlasting.

The camp was a wonderful place for us all and very thrilling as you might say.

The purpose of the camp was to enrich all our knowledge in nature and to see the beautiful things in life and also to get acquainted with new friends.

To hold us all together and keep our friendships closer we organized an alumni association. We were given a pine designed like a hemlock tree with N. T. S. under the tree meaning Nature Training School and when we meet a person bearing this pin we know he will always be our friend.

We all hope to keep that grand and glorious nature feeling and next year return to the camp and spend our time in like manner only visiting new sights.

Parents Ask $20,000 For Death Of Son

BUTLER, Pa., July 3.—Nicholas and Celia McCall of Center township entered suit for $20,000 today against Joseph Scialaba of Butler. They seek the amount for the death of their son, Raymond E. McCall, 18, who was killed the night of June 7 when he was struck by an automobile on the New Castle road, four miles west of Butler.

It is charged that Scialaba was the driver of the car which had collided with two automobiles in Butler city before it was taken out the New Castle road. McCall and a companion were knocked into a field at the side of the road. The latter escaped serious injury.

Scialaba, who is under $2,000 bond on information made by the highway patrol, is said to deny that he was driving the car that struck McCall although he admits ownership. Scialaba and two other men were found in the automobile at Alameda park, which they had entered from the New Castle road after striking the youths.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS BANISHED BY TEN HERBS

Indigestion And Stomach Trouble Aided: Says Grateful Lady

If you want to feel the thrill of perfect health—freedom from stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness—try Ten Herbs, the new medicine with the ten natural ingredients. Let this famous compound cleanse and invigorate your system and give you the joy of renewed health.

MRS. FLORA MILLETT

"On the third day after taking your medicine I began to improve," said Mrs. Flora Millett, 62 Hanover St., Portland, Maine. "My nerves were in bad shape and I could not get a good night's sleep. Would lie awake for hours before I could fall asleep. I could take a short rest after supper but after waking it was impossible for me to get back to sleep again. I could not bear to hear a sound and was easily startled."

"I had gas after eating, my appetite was poor and I was troubled with heartburn and a bad taste in the mouth. I had pains in my back over the kidneys and across the shoulders. My liver was disordered and I had headaches with black specks before my eyes."

"My son-in-law, who had given you a testimonial, advised me to take your medicine, which he said helped him more than any other medicine. I purchased two bottles. Now my nerves have improved and noise does not disturb me. I sleep right through the night. The kidney pains are gone and the pains between my shoulders are relieved. My stomach has improved so that I can eat without gas troubling me. I have no more headaches or heartburn. I recommend your medicine highly."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Ecker's New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

BREAKAGES, LTD.
"Dear," he whispered as they were seated together on the sofa. "I am going to ask you an important question and I want you to take your time about answering. Will you marry me?"

"But why should I hesitate, George dear?" the fair one responded leaning towards him.

"So I'll have time to shift these cigars in my pocket," he joyfully explained.—Portland Express.

A republic is a land in which the doctor can't operate until all the neighbors agree that it's necessary.

How I coaxed him to eat!

"ONCE I was worried. Meal-time was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just 'mimed' at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood-ionic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood tonic; that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from strictly fish vegetable drugs and was beneficial to the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

It is a known fact that when a man's system gets "run-down," he hasn't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play. It is dangerous to let the red-blood-count remain below normal.

S.S.S. is daily helping people to regain their strength. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It promotes a keen appetite, gives vitality to the body, clears the skin and wards off diseases. All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

MAIL PLANE MAY USE NEW DEVICE MONDAY

Airmail Pick-up Device At Local Airport May Be Used For
First Time July 7

Pilots of airmail routes in all parts of United States, as well as thousands of other people, are intensely interested in the new airmail pick-up device just installed at the New Castle Airport, on the New Castle-Youngstown road. This is the first of such devices ever officially installed in this country, will be given its first chance to perform on Monday afternoon, July 7, according to the present plans of the inventor, Dr. Adams.

It will be a thrilling moment when the airmail plane, probably driven by Starkey, will swoop down from the sky and without landing or going through any difficult maneuvering, will return to the heavens, with a bag or two of mail attached to a fifty foot line. If the first try-out is successful, and it undoubtedly will be, a new era will be marked in the history of airmail. Dr. Adams' invention will be installed in airports all over the United States.

The queer looking device at the New Castle Airport is attracting much attention. It is located several hundred yards from the road and is about the size in circumference as a large room. It doesn't resemble a room, of course. In fact, it doesn't resemble anything.

Perhaps the best way to describe the appearance of the new pick-up device is this: imagine a megaphone such as the cheer leader uses at a football game, with a portion of one side cut out. Now you have a megaphone pictured, with a portion cut out, leaving an open space wide at the end and tapering narrower toward the "mouthpiece." Prop the "mouth" end into the air, therefore making the base of the megaphone rest on one edge. That is exactly what the airmail pick-up device looks like—(more or less.) It seems at first glance to be a complicated affair, but upon examining it, it is found to be amazingly simple.

If Dr. Adams does not change his plans, a huge crowd will gather at the airport Monday afternoon, to see this new invention put to practical use.

Police Get Man Wanted For Shooting

Is Taken Into Custody But Short
Time After His Arrival
Back Here

On the evening of June 22, when Richard Minor, colored, fired three shots from his revolver at Fred Davis, colored, of 9 West Home street, and failed to hit him, he promptly disappeared from the community.

Last night, evidently believing that the excitement over the shooting had died down and that the police would have forgotten about him, he was surprised at the rear of 204½ Mahoning avenue, where he had just returned, by Detective John Young and Officers Thomas and Letera and taken into custody.

He was immediately removed to the office of Alderman William E. Marshall, where he was charged with tel-lous assault and battery with intent to kill by Fred Davis. In default of bail, he is now in the county jail, awaiting a hearing to be held Monday evening.

Opening Of Ellwood Zelenople Highway Planned For August

Work To Be Started Immediately
On Portersville
Highway

ELLWOOD CITY, July 3.—Yesterday concrete was being poured into the last stretch of the Ellwood City-Zelenople road and according to the Holmes Construction Co. contractors, the highway will be open for traffic August first.

Work on the shoulders will be completed within a few weeks and other small jobs as well.

Inquiry was made by the Ellwood Chamber of Commerce in order that it might make plans for the joint celebration with Zelenople in opening the road.

Every assurance was given that would soon be able to save many miles by utilizing this connecting link from Greensboro and Lincoln Highway to Zelenople.

The Holmes Construction company, contractors for the Portersville road, will begin working on that immediately, planning to have it completed by early autumn.

These two roads will be welcomed by many motorists and will connect Ellwood City with the main highways in all directions.

No Celebration In Ellwood Fourth July

ELLWOOD CITY, July 3.—Ellwood City people have plans for the celebration of July fourth, but most of them do not include staying at home. Members of the Wilbur Randolph Post, American Legion will join the Beaver Valley posts in the celebration at Junction Park.

Others plan to burn up gallons of gasoline in the old river. The Sunday school in the Church of God plans a picnic at Jackson Stop, with Mrs. Clara Miller heading the committee.

The Hungarian Presbyterian church is planning its picnic in the grove at the old Country club, where they will dance the Hungarian dances and serve Hungarian Goulash.

The Country club tea dance promises to be an event for society which will gather at this playhouse for an afternoon of bridge with club members and friends.

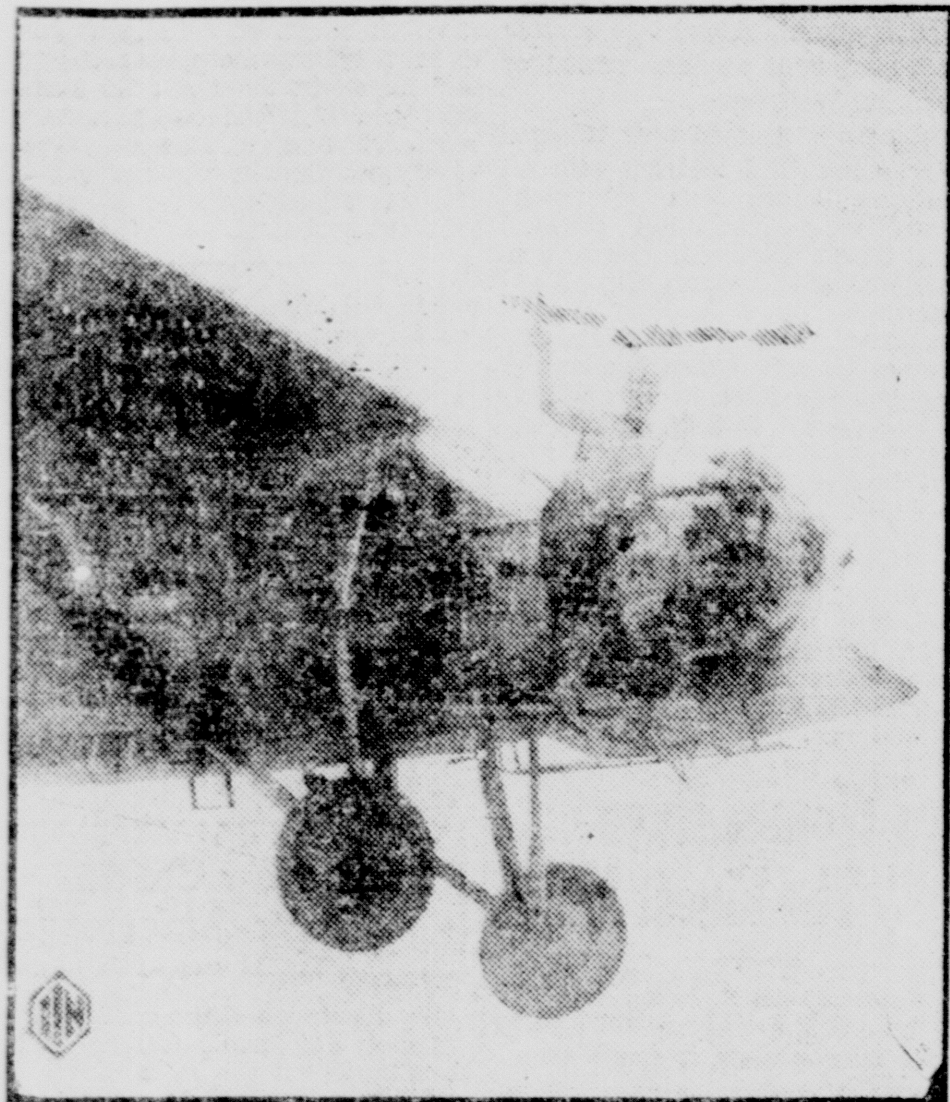

Although no fireworks are permitted to be set off in the borough limits, the children shall not lack for noise. Already most of them have been equipped with toy pistols and hundreds and hundreds of caps to shoot off.

ELLWOOD CITY WINS ANOTHER

Beaver Grays Are Defeated 3-1
On Ellwood Diamond
Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, July 3.—Another victory was annexed by the Ellwood City baseball club when they took the measure of the strong Beaver Grays on the local grounds by the close score of 3 to 1 in an interesting battle. This is the third consecutive victory for the Tubers as they triumphed over the Beaver crew last night.

Ellwood scored the first tally in the second frame and still another in the fourth while the visitors went scoreless. It was not until the sixth that the Tubers again chalked up a marker to make a total of three. In the eighth frame Watterson crossed the plate to account for Beaver's one pointer.

It was one of those kind of tilts that fans enjoy and the Ruskovic crew was forced to display a fine brand of ball to bump off the Grays who held second place in the Beaver County League.

Testa, a new face in the local lineup, twirled a fine game for the Tubers and was backed up with very good field work. He was very effective at the mound and also accounted for a bingle. Foster started at the pitcher box for the opponents but was replaced by Hood in the seventh. The Ellwood sluggers niched these lads for four hits apiece while Testa allowed the Grays to collect ten.

Mike Sanders and Clarke enjoyed a good batting day with two hits apiece and the latter was also responsible for a run. P. Sanders hit for an extra base while Fitzgerald, Testa and Latiano had a bingle to their credit.

Sheehan, Corbett and Bushang lead the attack for the losers with two bingles each, but the Grays failed to make these hits good for tallies. Watterson hit a two bagger and secured the only run for his mates.

With three straight victories tucked away the Ruskovic crew is eagerly looking forward to the Fourth when they engage in two battles with the Beaver Falls Merchants. The morning game will take place at Beaver Falls and the afternoon tilt will be played on the local grounds. The Merchants are on the top berth in the league and a tough opponent to play against in one day.

According to Business Manager, Al Thomas, arrangements have been made for the Homestead Grays to appear here on the 10th of July. Several other all star attractions are being negotiated by Thomas and fans may look forward to some real treats.

China Now Proves A Puzzle Even To Chinese Themselves

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—China, as a Chinese puzzle, always did puzzle foreign devils.

Now the Chinese themselves are beginning to admit that they are puzzled by it. State department officials who get their information (so called) from the best available native sources, no longer can make heads nor tails out of it.

It is an unfair kind of puzzle. As fast as diplomats work it out, it changes. It combines the characteristics of a puzzle with the characteristics of a kaleidoscope.

For example, Nelson T. Johnson is our minister to China, and a nation's minister to a foreign country ought to have his official residence at the latter's capital.

But where is the capital of China? It was Peking up to a year or so ago, when Chang Tso-lin ceased to be president. However, upon chasing Chang over the northern border into his own more special bailiwick of Manchuria (Chang was assassinated on the way, incidentally), Chiang Kai-shek transferred the government's headquarters to Nanking about 800 miles to the southward with himself as president. He even changed Peking's name to Peiping, because "Peking" means "northern capital" in Chinese and Chiang wanted to belittle it.

So far, good. Capitals have been transferred before, like Russia's, from Leningrad to Moscow, and cities' names have been changed also, like St. Petersburg into Petrograd and then into Leningrad.

Minister Johnson and his fellow diplomats did not immediately move their households from Peiping to Nanking, since moving is an arduous undertaking in China, but they did have to open up offices and pass most of their time in the new capital, and they planned presently to move, bag and baggage.

Perhaps it was lucky that they took their time about it. Chiang has a rebellion on his hands, and at the rate of progress it is making at present the prospect seems excellent that Peiping soon will be Peking again, and once more China's principal if not its exclusive capital.

And yet this is not altogether certain; not certain enough for Minister Johnson to have decided that it would be wise for him to send his office desk back to Peiping or Peking or whatever its name may be.

The rebels are known as the "northern coalition," and coalitions are notoriously unreliable.

The northern coalition's head is Yen Hsi-shan, hitherto generally described as the "model governor of Shansi province." Model that is to say, he is very religious, but not exactly religious according to occidental ideas. In other words, to quote the missionaries, "his religion has all forms of religion left out of it."

Yen's chief lieutenant is Peng Yuh-hung, widely famed as the "Christian general."

Peng's Christianity appears to be marked by a few minor omissions of relatively the same sort as Yen's religion. In one respect Peng holds all records; he has been on more sides of the last 15 years of fighting in China than any other general in the country.

He is a dandy scrapper and Yen probably owes most of his recent victories to him, in his campaign against Chiang, but when the moment comes to compute the net result it remains to be seen for what leader Peng decides he really won his victories—Yen or Chiang or himself or someone else entirely. Among others, he may decide that he won them for Chiang Kai-shek, who lately has been mentioned as having framed up a deal with the northern coalition concerning the ownership of Shantung province.

Chang Hsueh-liang is a son of Chang Tso-lin, late war lord of Manchuria, referred to above as having been assassinated as he was retreating northward from Peking after being beaten by Chiang Kai-shek.

There are war lords and war lords in China, but the elder Chang was an exceptionally big one, despite the trimming he suffered. If his son inherited much of his ability (which is still to be tested), as well as his cohorts and money, Peng is likely to consider himself better worth tying to than the model governor.

In addition to their number and differences of opinion among themselves, each leader has considerable mutiny in his own ranks. Bandit groups, some of them many thousands strong, likewise are "too numerous to mention" as the school kids' essays say. And finally no one can tell with any definiteness how much communism, provided by Russia, is infused into the general mixture. There is some of it, anyway.

The truth is, a dozen or 20 major forces exist in China, constantly combining into alliances of two or three and then disintegrating and recombining into new patterns.

It represents a terrible puzzle for diplomats.

It was on the night of April 17, 1775, that Paul Revere made his memorable ride from old North Church, Boston, to arouse the patriots to whom credit is due for the independence which we celebrate this Fourth of July.

What a contrast between Paul Revere and the modern dispatch rider in the recent war for democracy. What a contrast, too, between the modern home with its many up-to-date conveniences and the homes of a few years ago. If your home furnishings are out of date, come to Haneys. ## Bobby Jones Goes To Minneapolis For National Open Tourney

Walsh Thinks Jones Will Receive First Set Back At Minneapolis Tourney

National Open Golf Championship Will Start On July 10; Has Many Titles

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, July 3.—His not to daily in the effluence of a nation's homage. His only to receive the deference due a conqueror and hasten away to conquer again. Bobby Jones will be off to the wars once more before nightfall today. His face set toward Minneapolis and a greater test than any he yet has experienced, the was the toast of the nation, indeed, yesterday as he came home with the British amateur and open championships to receive a welcome that is echoing in his ears even at this moment.

But today grim reality has come with the cold light of morning. Yesterday's cheers are drowned in the tumult of tomorrow's worries. It is the penalty of fame that a hero remain heroic to the end and so Jones is forced to turn his back upon acclaim to set forth for Interlachen and what?

Personally, I suspect that he is going out to meet his first defeat or a great year. This is mere opinion and, therefore, no less worthless than the average opinion seems to be. Jones arrived here, sun tanned and almost aggressively healthy. He hadn't lost his golf clubs, as alleged. He hadn't been ill, as suggested by scare-head cables. He was and will remain the greatest golfer this bunkered-crazed old world has known and probably will know. But this comes pretty close to being the year for him to lose the national open championship. It isn't in the books for Jones to win at Interlachen.

Jones simply has won more than his share of honors, even for a man whose golf is almost foolproof. He has been under a strain the like of which would give a pack mule nervous prostration. Within a period of three weeks, he won the British amateur and the British open championships, with barely a breathing spell between. He already has achieved a miracle. It is asking too much to expect him to competitive soccer.

Human frailty being what it is, Jones is overdue for the inevitable reaction. And the field he will face at Interlachen must be potentially stronger, more menacing for the addition of Hagen, Farrell, Sarazen, Xdennmore Elute and others than was the conquered list at Hoylake. If Jones wins this one, after all the winning he has done, there simply will be nothing for it but to take the old-oaken moss-covered law of averages and hurl it violently out upon the rear away.

However, the law has reached out its long arm and tapped Jones upon the shoulder with an authoritative finger more than once in the last five years, which admittedly have been his greatest. "I did so, for instance, at Baltusrol in 1926 after he had won his first British open title and had followed this with a melodramatic finish at Scioto to win the American open of that year. He looked like a pinch for the amateur at Baltusrol but he had won everything that any man had a right to expect in a single year and so he lost to George Von Elm, whom he twice had beaten most soundly in previous title meetings.

The following year saw him repeat in the British open and score that marvellous 285 at St. Andrews thus flouting all of its maligned traditions. But the reaction caught him midway through the American open at Oakmont and he finished well down the list for the only time in a dozen years.

This ought to have made him due for the national open in 1928 but he lost a play-off to Johnny Farrell, a defeat that made him an absolute kick-in for the amateur at Brae Burn. Jones being the kind of golfer who is never without a title.

He reached this point with a succession of amateur championships in 1924, 1925, and 1928, so he was ordained to come a cropper at Pebble Beach last summer. Which he promptly did in the first round. Thus, great as he is, even Jones is not immune to this thing the gamblers call "percentage." It will be working 24 hours a day at Minneapolis, starting on July 10, with the result that a defeat ought to be anticipated. And a victory? This could mean only that Jones is greater than anybody suspected—greater than destiny, greater than fate itself.

Baker In Hospital Following Gans Go

Sergeant Sammy Baker Loses On Technical Kayo; Taken To Hospital

(International News Service.)
CLEVELAND, July 3.—Sergeant Sammy Baker, veteran New York boxer, lay in St. Alexis hospital here today with serious injuries which he received last night from the flying fists of Baby Joe Gans in the main bout of a boxing show at Taylor Bowl.

Gans won the bout with a technical knockout after a minute and 35 seconds of the 12th and final round when the brave Baker, who had been forcing the battle, staggered and collapsed to the canvas, his mouth vomiting blood.

While Gans' right hand was raised in signal of victory, Baker writhed on the canvas, groaning in delirium. He was rushed to the hospital in a state of semi-consciousness, where several physicians were called in consultation.

At St. Alexis today it was said that Baker's condition was serious but not critical. The nature of his injuries had not yet been diagnosed. Dr. Joseph Kocar, representing the Newburg Heights boxing commission, who examined the fighter just before he was rushed to the hospital, said that Baker was suffering from "a probable hemorrhage of the brain."

Brooklyn Wins Over St. Louis To Take Lead

Chicago Cubs Lose To Giants, 9-8; Cubs Lose League Leadership

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 3.—Kings for a day at least, the Brooklyn Robins were speeding eastward today, leading the National Leaguers again. The flock flew to a fractional advantage over the Chicago Cubs in the up-and-down column when they defeated the Cardinals, 6 to 5, thanks to a whanging homer by Wally Gilbert in the eighth. Babe Phelps gave the Redbirds nine hits and marked up his third win this season over the Cards.

Babe Hits No. 31

Babe Ruth whammed his thirty first circuiter as the Yankees lowered the lowly Alabaster Hose 5 to 1 but the great man injured his hand in the second game, attempting to cut off one of three home runs knocked by Carl Reynolds and the Yanks faced the possibility of losing Ruth for several days. Four Shwazy hurlers were helpless before the Sox who galloped off with the tea tiller, 15 to 4. A garrison finish by the Giants humbled the ambitious Cubs, 9 to 8, after the Bruins got a five-run lead in the first inning. Tiny Jim Chaplin, a rookie from San Antonio! Pitched nice ball and kindly obligated with a homer with two on.

The long expected downfall of the Senators was further delayed. Washington advancing on the A's by taking a twin act from the Browns, 5 to 4 and 5 to 3. Manush tripled, scoring on a sacrifice, and Judge singled, stole second and tallied on West's double for a 12-inning triumph in the opener. Alvin crowded accounted for the closer by allowing St. Louis only 4 hits.

Philadelphia split with Detroit, Ma-baffey was weak and the Tigers won the starter, 4 to 3, the A's taking the second, 7 to 2, as they spanned Waite Hoyt. Al Simmons got his seventeenth homer and four other bangles. Big Ed Morris, cast as relief pitcher, poled a double in the ninth scoring Miller to register for the Boston Ruddy Sox, 5 to 4, over Cleveland. Pittsburgh could not click and had 12 men stranded on the sacks, as the Boston Braves won 6 to 4. Seibold kept the Bucs' clouts well divided. Cincinnati and Philadelphia were idle.

Griffith Wins Decision From Johnny Risko

Tuffy Griffith Again Leading Contender As Result Of Win Over Risko

(International News Service.)
CHICAGO, July 3.—Tuffy Griffiths of Chicago, today rose to a new place in the ranks of heavyweight title contenders through his decisive ten round victory over Johnny Risko of Cleveland, last night at the Chicago Stadium.

Griffith was the master throughout the ten rounds of encounter and won the unanimous votes of the judges and Referee Phil Collins. This was Tuffy's third victory over the Cleveland baker boy and coming as it did on the heels of Risko's victories over both Vito Corbelli and Paulino Uzcudun, Griffith today assumed a place in the scramble for recognition as a possible contender for Max Schmeling's newly-won crown.

Benefit Game For Dick Morgan Tonight; Congregationalists Play Presbyterians

Tonight at 6:30 at the Centennial baseball field, a benefit game for Dick Morgan, who recently sustained a broken arm in one of the games, will be played between the First Congregational, first-half champs of the Church League and the Central Presbyterians. A good crowd is expected to attend the game. Both teams are set for this important game.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling will not fight in September in New York. Negotiations came to an end yesterday when Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling refused to sign unless the garden released Schmeling of all claims of Arthur Bulow, repudiated manager. The garden refused and Jacobs would not sign. Sharkey had signed through his legal adviser, Jack Conway.

Carl Reynolds put the Chicago White Sox in the limelight yesterday even though they lost the first game. He hit three consecutive homers and they netted the White Sox eight runs in the second game. Jackie Rodgers won a 10-round decision over Johnny McCoy last night at Braddock. Jackie scored a knockdown in the first round. It was a tame battle as McCoy was cautious throughout.

There will be no boxing bout at the bowl July Fourth or the following Monday.

Chances For Second Sharkey-Schmeling Title Contest Fade

To Attempt To Match Primo Carnera And Campolo; Sharkey Has Signed For Bout

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, July 3.—Negotiations for a second Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling bout were at an end today and whether further efforts will be made to arrange the bout was held doubtful.

Frank J. Bruen, vice president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, announced that while Sharkey had signed, efforts to finally sign the bout were balked by demands of Joe Jacobs, manager of the German boxer, and Arthur Bulow, his former manager, who holds a 25 percent interest in Schmeling.

Jacobs, Garden officials said, objected to a release of Bulow claims because of retention of the right to sue Schmeling for part of the receipts of an exhibition tour the German made in 1929 and on his screen profits. Jacobs objected to the agreement and refused to go further with the negotiations.

As a substitute for the Sharkey-Schmeling clash, the Garden will attempt to bring together Campolo, the Argentine giant, and Primo Carnera of Italy or match Sharkey with an outstanding heavyweight.

FROM TEE TO GREEN

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

Just because you have hit a good ball once, in using the form you are now using, is no reason why you can hit it again and do it consistently.

If the truth were known, the average golfer is afraid to change his old style for good form because he lives in the hope that some day he will hit his stride and "get hot". This simply will not happen! There is only one way to hit a golf ball. There may be a few variations in the finer points, but fundamentally there is only one side stroke, backswing and follow-through.

Change your swing, if you are going badly, and do it immediately. You may go a bit off to the worse for a few days, but after you have grooved the swing you'll see a great deal of improvement for the future shots. You could look like a good golfer if you would take the time to develop just such a swing as shown and when you have such a swing, do not become frightened when you see a little white ball in front of you. Swing through with your eyes shut, if you care to, and the proof of the form will take the ball off the tee and far down the course. In learning the two strokes note the points as marked and see that they are conforming with the pictures. These points develop the swing and do the correct shifting of weight.

OUTING TOGS NATURALLY INCLUDE SWIMMING SUITS, BEACH PAJAMAS

Whatever the outing you are planning, you will naturally include a swimming suit and a beach ensemble. Both were never more delightful than this season. At the extreme left above Clara Bow, "It" girl of the screen, illustrates the charm and efficiency of a silk swimming suit. The bathing suit with shorts is pictured next. This suit is made of brilliant red and gold bemberg in a new tricot weave. A modernistic fish adds a decorative touch. The third figure is Lillian Roth, also of the screen, who wears a tricky bathing suit of navy blue and white jersey with stars for embellishment, with red trunks. Very patriotic, you see. Rita La Roy, another screen player, fourth, chooses a beach ensemble of red and white jersey in three-piece styling, with matching scarf and rubberized red silk beach bag. The last figure, extreme right, is Sally Blane showing something new in beach overalls.

Referee Forbes Siops Bout In Sixth To Save Dominick
Petrone From K. O.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 3.—The Kid Chocolate-Dominick Petrone, sixth ended after fifty seconds of the first round at Ebbets field last night.
Eddie Forbes stopped it right there to save Petrone from a dead certain knockout.

Chocolate completely outclassed Petrone but so savage and so determined was Petrone's stand for the first four rounds. The wonderful Cuban could not bring him to the subduing point.
The end began in the fifth when Chocolate smashed Petrone all over the ring, first to one corner and then another. It was a dreadful shelling that the game boy took but the keed could not upset him. The end seemed almost a foregone conclusion at one period in the fifth.

Health Director Warns Of "4th"

Takes Precaution Against Unexpected, Despite Ban On Fireworks

TOXIN SUPPLY READY FOR EMERGENCY NEED

"Don't trifle with firecrackers. A mere scratch may cause injury just as a deep wound would. Summon a physician should an accident occur so that treatment might be administered without delay. Wasting time may prove costly."

This is a timely bit of warning that County Medical Director Howard C. Harper would give New Castle and Lawrence county folk on the eve of this year's Fourth of July celebration.

While New Castle and other communities about the county have banned the use of fireworks, it is however best to take double precaution against the unexpected. Preventive measures above all are the best.

"Injury of the most dangerous kind may occur to a person burned by an exploding firecracker unless tetanus anti-toxin is immediately resorted to, and so the state has designated certain drug stores through the county to distribute it if the need arises," Dr. Harper said.

McKinley and Franz, druggists, corner of East Washington and South Mercer streets are the local distributors. The store announced this morning that it's supply has been received for free distribution. Should an accident occur, the tetanus anti-toxin should be secured.

Other drug stores in Ellwood City, Wampum, Bessemer and other places will also have supplies of the toxin on hand in case of emergency.

Prayer In Congress

Rev. James W. Morris, D. D., assistant rector Church of the Epiphany, city of Washington, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God and Heavenly Father, whose sovereign authority is over all Thy works, by whose merciful providence kings reign and rulers are established, we ascribe unto Thee greatness and power. We glorify Thee as the God of truth and inviolate righteousness; just and right in all Thy ways.

Enable us all, we pray Thee, governors as well as governed, to keep ever in mind that there can be no real freedom either for ourselves or for our Nation without filial submission to Thy beneficent will and only in humble service of Thy holy name.

We ask this through Thy mediation of Thy Son, to whom Thou hast given all authority in heaven and on earth. Amen.

Observers In Washington Are Intrigued By Hoover's Prompt Support Of Morrow

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The promptness with which President Hoover hastened to assure Dwight W. Morrow of his support in the New Jersey Senatorial election—despite their differences on Prohibition—has not ceased to intrigue the political railbirds of Washington.

Various reasons for it continue to be put forth. In some quarters it was ascribed to the eagerness of Mr. Hoover to give public manifestation of his admiration for Ambassador Morrow; others thought that the Administration wanted to dissipate the quite general impression that the White House had given covert backing to Morrow's chief rival, the dry Franklin W. Fort; still others were of the opinion that the President wanted to make a gesture toward the wets and thus demonstrate he is not quite as committed to the radical dries as some people have thought.

Whatever the real reason, Mr. Hoover probably alone knows. But he caused widespread comment at the time, and this speculation has increased if anything since Morrow's victory. In no other case has Mr.

Hoover gone so conspicuously out of his way to assure White House support to a party nominee.

Some of Mr. Hoover's friends have sought to minimize the event with intimations that, after all, there may not be any great amount of difference in the views of the two men on the Prohibition issue.

Examinations of the public utterances of both on the question, however, does not bear this out.

President Hoover has stated flatly that he does not favor repeal of the 18th Amendment, and that any modification of the laws under the amendments amounts to nullification. Ambassador Morrow has stated that he does favor repeal of the amendment, and the restoration of control of liquor to the various states.

For purpose of comparison it is interesting to range what Mr. Hoover has said alongside what Mr. Morrow has said.

In his speech of acceptance in 1923, President Hoover said: "I do not favor repeal of the 18th amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Any modification of the enforcement laws which would permit that which the Constitution forbids is nullification."

In Mr. Morrow's keynote speech, opening his Senatorial campaign, he said: "I believe that the way out of the present difficulty (Prohibition) is to recognize clearly the fundamental differences between the nature of the Federal Government and State government. I believe this involves a repeal of the 18th amendment and the substitution therefor of an amendment which will restore to the states the power to determine their policy toward the liquor traffic and vest in the Federal government power to give all possible protection and assistance to those states that desire complete prohibition against invasion from the states that do not."

That is a pretty clear-cut difference. The future moves on this Prohibition checkerboard between two players of such renown are going to be watched with exceeding closeness.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

From Greenville's icy mountains to Indiana's coral strand, and all way stations between, tomorrow marks the one day in the year when the average American can go out and make as much whoopee as he feels like, providing it doesn't scale more than one-half of one per cent alcohol by volume.

What I mean is, he can drive as far as he likes, eat as much picnic grub as he can hold, swim all afternoon or sprain his arm playing baseball, and it all comes under the heading of patriotic holidays. Back in the village years ago there was a custom of reading the Declaration of Independence, but in the cities this has been abandoned in favor of reading the stock market reports.

It's anybody's right to go out and have a nice fresh accident on the road tomorrow, if you're baling enough to drive more than five or 10 miles. Tomorrow is the day when the holiday driver blooms and the average citizen who believes in giving the other fellow his share of the road had better keep his bus in the garage. Otherwise he may have it in a repair garage.

The authorities have stopped put-

MISS LILLIAN SNYDER

What could be wiser than to profit by the experiences of those who to their everlasting joy, out Konjola, the new and different medicine of 32 ingredients to the test. Read what Konjola means to Miss Lillian Snyder, 412 Howard Avenue, Lancaster, Pa., who says: "I am more thankful for Konjola than any medicine I have ever taken. I had suffered from a nervous condition for more than two years, everything annoying me. My stomach gave me trouble, too, with bloating after every meal. I tried many medicines, but found no relief. My sister had taken Konjola with splendid results, and she advised me to give it a trial. Konjola did what all else I tried failed to do, and I am sorry that I did not know of this wonderful medicine two years ago. Think of the suffering I could have escaped."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such ingredients. Konjola is indeed a medicine for all the family.

Konjola is sold by Love & McGown, the Druggists, 204 East Washington St., this city.
